

FAIRY BONES

Recently the Phoenix New Times named Fairy Bones “Best Local Band” in 2015. They called their music one of the “10 best things” heard in Phoenix in 2013 and 2014. PASTE says “few rock voices today can compare, of any gender.”

Fairy Bones formed in early 2013 when singer/songwriters Chelsey Louise (vocals) and Robert Ciuca (guitar) teamed up with brothers Matthew Foes (drums) and Ben Foes (bass) and combined their talents to create a style of rock and roll all their own.

In 2013, they released their self-titled EP on 80/20 Records, Echo Magazine said their first single, ‘Like Like,’ “should be on everybody’s shortlist for best single of the year.” In 2015, they successfully crowdfunded their debut full length, “Dramabot” (80/20 Records), recorded and produced by Bob Hoag (The Format, The Ataris).

Fairy Bones has played 200+ shows since 2013 including an official CMJ Showcase & McDowell Mountain Music Festival, toured the Southwest extensively, opened for Alien Ant Farm, Mother Mother, Kyle Gass Band, Kongos, PYYRAMIDS, and Hell or Highwater, & shared the stage with St. Lucia, Goldfish, & The Main Squeeze. Their singles have notably been spun on KWSS, KUKQ, and NPR.

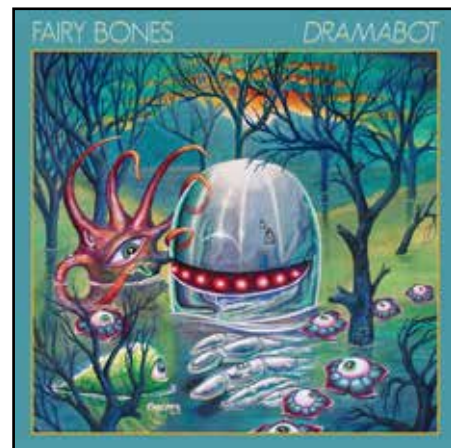

“The word “banshee” gets thrown around in regards to lead singer Chelsey Louise’s incomparable pipes (we’re talking mythology here, not Siouxsie Sioux), and it’s a well earned if overused sobriquet; few rock voices today can compare, of any gender.”
